This shooting venue will be a great legacy for the shooting sport in Brazil and the ISSF is looking forward to future competitions on this beautiful venue.

It was a great pleasure and an unique experience for 390 athletes from 97 countries from all 5 continents to be a part of these great Olympic Games. All the officials, referees, judges and volunteers made their contribution to bring the shooting events of the XXXI Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro 2016 to a great success.

We express our sincere congratulations not only to the winners but also to each participant who showed the world that sport can truly be considered as an expression of peace, friendship and brotherhood in fair play.

We are wishing all athletes, officials, referees, judges and spectators a safe return home and we are sure that everybody will take home good memories of the many nice impressions of warm friendship and the great atmosphere.

Competition Format and Rules

Olympic competition format

The Rio 2016 Olympic Games shooting competition is made up of 15 events – nine for men and six for women. Athletes contest three different disciplines, with five events for rifles, five for pistols and five for shotguns.

Disciplines	Events for men	Events for women	Total
Rifle	- 50m rifle three positions - 50m rifle prone - 10m air rifle	- 50m rifle three positions - 10m air rifle	Five
Pistol	- 50m pistol - 25m rapid fire pistol - 10m air pistol	- 25m pistol - 10m air pistol	Five
Shotgun	- trap - double trap - skeet	- Trap - Skeet	Five

Each event consists of a qualification phase and finals. Some events (50m rifle prone men, 50m rifle three positions men/women and 50m pistol men) may require an elimination phase before qualification, depending on the number of entries and the availability of firing points.

Rifle and pistol events

Qualification

Each event starts with a qualification phase, from which the top six/eight athletes progress to the finals. In qualification, athletes shoot a defined number of shots depending on the event. For 50m rifle prone men, and 10m air rifle men and women, elimination and/or qualification scoring is done with a tenth ring (decimal) scoring.

Random draws, under the supervision of the jury, are used to allocate firing positions.

Finals

Scoring in the finals starts from zero – no scores are carried forward from the qualification phase.

The finals for 10m air rifle men and women, 10m air pistol men and women, 50m pistol men and 50m rifle prone men consist of two stages: a competition stage followed by an elimination stage. Eliminations of the lowest scoring finalists begin after the eighth shot and continue after every two shots until the gold and silver medals are decided. Scoring is done with tenth-ring (decimal) scoring. Cumulative total scores in the finals determine the rankings, with ties broken by shoot-offs.

The 25m rapid fire pistol men final consists of eight 5-shot 4-second series with hit or miss scoring (each hit counts one point, each miss counts zero points). The elimination of the lowest scoring finalists begins after the fourth series and continues until the eighth series when the gold and silver medals are decided. The size of the hit zone is within the 9.7 zone on the 25m rapid fire pistol target. The rankings in the final are determined by cumulative total scores (total number of hits), with ties broken according to shoot-off scores.

The 25m pistol women final consists of two stages, a semifinal and two medal matches. All scoring is hit or miss. The semifinal consists of five 5-shot rapid-fire series, and all eight finalists shoot at this stage. In the medal matches the first and second place athletes from the semifinal compete for the gold and silver medals while the third and fourth place athletes compete for the bronze medal. Each medal match is fired on a series-by-series basis where the athlete with the highest hit total in each receives two points, and one point is awarded to both athletes if the scores are tied. The first athlete to score seven points wins.

Shotgun events

There are five shotgun events – trap (men and women), double trap (men only) and skeet (men and women). Shotguns differ from rifles and pistols in that they are smooth bored rather than "rifled," and they fire a number of pellets rather than a single projectile. The maximum effective range for clay target shooting is considered to be about 50m.

The athletes stand on designated stations to shoot at clay targets that are released on or after the athlete's command. A "hit" is declared when the target is shot at and at least one visible piece is seen by the referee to fall from it. During the finals, if powder emerges from the target after a shot it will be declared as a "hit".

Event	Number of targets
	Individual men	Individual women
Trap (in rounds of 25 targets)	125 + finals	75 + finals
Double trap (in rounds of 30 targets each)	150 + finals	N/A
Skeet (in rounds of 25 targets)	125 + finals	75 + finals

The jury, in conjunction with the organising committee, and with the approval of the technical delegate(s), may adjust the squadding draw in accordance with the International Shooting Sport Federation (ISSF) squadding requirements.

The shooting order of the squads, and the shooting order within the squads, must also be changed from day-to-day by the organising committee under the supervision of the jury.

The full programme must be fired in each Olympic event as a qualification for the finals. The six highest-ranking athletes in the qualification round advance to the finals. Finals consist of two stages: a semifinal and medal matches.

Starting positions in the semifinals are assigned according to a random draw that must be done automatically by the computer when the finals start list is released. New bib numbers (1-6) will be issued. In all semifinals, medal matches and shoot-offs, athletes will shoot in bib number order (lowest number shoots first).

Athletes start at zero for each finals stage – scores from the qualification or semifinal are not carried forward. After the semifinal, the first and second place athletes advance to the gold medal match and the third and fourth place athletes go to the bronze medal match. The fifth and sixth place athletes are eliminated.

Differences between the ISSF world championships and the Olympic Games

There are 15 shooting events on the programme of the Rio 2016 Olympic Games, while the ISSF world championships has 55. The additional events are 300m rifle events, 50m running target, 10m running target as well as additional events with 50m rifle, 25m pistol, and additional shotgun events. In most events there are four categories: men, women, men junior and women junior. All events at the ISSF world championships are held in individual and team competitions (three team members).

Changes since the London 2012 Olympic Games

The ISSF has introduced the use of decimal ring scoring for 50m rifle prone men and 10m air rifle men and women during elimination and/or qualification.

Two new finals formats have also been introduced:

1. For 10m and 50m rifle and pistol events, finals consist of two stages: a competition stage followed by an elimination stage. Eliminations of the lowest scoring finalists begin after the eighth shot and continue after every two shots until the gold and silver medals are decided.
2. For 25m pistol women and shotgun events, finals consists of two stages: a semifinal and two medal matches. After the semifinal the first and second place athletes advance to the gold medal match while the third and fourth place athletes in the semifinal advance to the bronze medal match. The ISSF rules regarding records have been changed. According to the new ISSF rules, there are no finals world records and finals Olympic records for all shotgun events and the 25m pistol women event.

The ISSF rules regarding tied athletes have been changed. There is no longer a qualification shoot-off (QS-off) for rifle and pistol events, the normal count-back rules apply.

Sport rules and procedures

Rifle and pistol events

Qualification

In qualification, shots are fired at a target, with the number of shots, number of series and allowed time to shoot depending on the event. Qualification scores may entitle an athlete to a place in the finals, but scores are not carried forward.

Finals

The first stage finals (depending on the event) consist of a defined number of shots in a given time limit. For the 10m air rifle and air pistol for men and women, 50m pistol men and 50m rifle prone men events, the first finals competition stage consists of two series of three match shots, each fired in a time limit defined in the event rules.

For the above events, the first finals competition stage is followed by the finals elimination stage. During the finals elimination 14 single match shots will be fired, each on command in a time of 50 seconds (30 seconds in 50m rifle prone men). Eliminations of the lowest scoring finalists begin after the eighth shot and continue after every two shots until the gold and silver medals are decided. There is a total of 20 finals shots.

For the 50m rifle 3 positions for men and women, the first finals competition stage consist of three series (in kneeling and prone position) and two series (in standing position) of five match shots, each fired in a time limit defined in the event rules. The lowest scoring finalists will be eliminated after the two series in the standing position. The finals continue with five single shots in the standing position, each in 50 seconds, with the lowest ranking athlete being eliminated after each shot until two athletes remain to fire the last shot and decide the gold medal winner. There is a total of 45 finals shots.

For the 25m rapid fire pistol men event, the finals consist of eight 5-shot 4-second series with hit or miss scoring. The lowest scoring finalists will be eliminated, beginning after the fourth series and continuing until the eighth series when the gold and silver medals are decided.

For the 25m pistol women event, the finals consist of two stages, a semifinal and two medal matches. All scoring is hit or miss. The semifinal consists of five 5-shot rapid-fire series. All eight finalists shoot in the semifinal. In the medal matches, the first and second placed athletes from the semifinal compete for the gold and silver medals, while the third and fourth placed athletes shoot for the bronze medal.

Each medal match is fired on a series-by-series basis in which the athlete with the highest hit total in each series receives two points and athletes with tied scores receive one point each. The first athlete who scores seven points is the winner. If both athletes score seven points in the same series, they will fire additional series until the tie is broken.

Deductions for violations occurring before the first match shot will be applied to the score of the first match shot.

Deductions for other penalties will be applied to the score of the shot where the violation occurred.

Shotgun events

Qualifications

The trap event is considered to be shotgun's "long range" contest. Most athletes use double barrelled guns because in this event two shots are permitted at each target.

Targets are released from an underground bunker which has 15 trap machines in a straight line below ground level, set to throw targets away from the shooter at various heights, angles and speeds. The athletes shoot in turn from five designated stations set 15m back from the front edge of the bunker roof, and about 3m apart. The athlete does not know from which trap the target will be thrown but all athletes shoot at the same targets at some point during the round.

Double trap men is a "medium range" event, in which the guns used are similar to those in trap. Athletes shoot in turn from five designated stations set 15m back from the front edge of the bunker roof, and about 3m apart. After an athlete's command, two targets (the "double") are released simultaneously within a period of zero to one seconds from trap machines in the centre of the bunker. The two targets travel at different heights and angles and a round consists of 25 "doubles". The athletes fire one shot at each target.

Skeet for men and women are "short range" events and the guns used must be capable of firing two shots. Athletes shoot from eight different designated stations at a series of "singles" and simultaneous "doubles" from separate trap houses ("high" and "low") situated at each end of an arc of a circle of about 40m diameter. Competitors may fire only one shot per target and must also hold their shotgun stock on or below an official marker tape, which is fixed at elbow level, until the target appears. Targets are released from zero to three seconds after the athlete's call.

The top six competitors in each event advance from the qualification phase to the finals, where the number of shots depends on the rules of the event.

Finals

Finals consist of two stages, a semifinal and two medal matches. Finalists start at zero for each finals stage, scores from the qualification or semifinal are not carried forward. After the semifinal, the first and second placed athletes advance to the gold medal match, while the third and fourth place athletes go to the bronze medal match. The fifth and sixth place athletes are eliminated.

Trap events: Each finals stage consists of 15 targets. In the semifinal, athletes occupy stations 1-2-3-4-5-6 in bib number order (lowest bib number on station 1). After each athlete has shot on a station, he/she must move to the next station to fire in sequence on that station. In semifinals, finalists will shoot one left, one centre and one right target on each station. In medal matches, athletes will shoot on stations 2-3-4 only. At the beginning of each medal match the two athletes will occupy stations 2 and 3 (lowest bib number on station 2). Athletes shoot one target on each station and then advance. During each medal match stage, finalists will shoot two left, one centre and two right targets on each station.

Skeet events: Finalists shoot on stations 3, 4, 5 and 4 in that order (the athlete with the lowest bib number starts first). Finalists shoot one regular double and one reverse double on each station. Each finals stage consists of 16 targets.

Double trap event: Each finals stage consists of 15 doubles. In the semifinal, athletes occupy stations 1-2-3-4-5-6 in bib number order (lowest bib number on station 1). After each athlete has shot on a station, he/she must move to the next. In the semifinal, finalists will shoot three doubles on each station (one scheme "A", one scheme "B" and one scheme "C") randomly selected. In the medal matches, athletes will shoot on stations 2-3-4 only. At the beginning of each medal match the two athletes will occupy stations 2 and 3 (lowest bib number on station 2). Athletes shoot one double on each station and then advance. During each medal match stage, finalists will shoot five doubles on each station (two scheme "A", two scheme "B" and one scheme "C") randomly selected.

Tiebreak rules

For rifle and pistol events, the ISSF rules apply to the qualification, but shoot-offs will be organised if ties occur during the finals.

For shotgun events, the ISSF rules apply to the qualification (including qualification shoot-offs), shoot-offs will be organised if ties occur during the finals

Penalties/disqualification rules

In rifle and pistol events an athlete may lodge a score protest before the next shot in qualification regarding the value of a shot. No score protests are possible during the finals. If a protest is denied, a two point penalty is incurred automatically. Such protests are resolved by the classification jury.

A deduction or penalty must be applied to the score of the match shot/series where the violation occurred. In finals, no score below zero will be recorded (e.g. 3-2 point deduction = 1, 0-2 point deduction = 0).

The most common reasons for penalties are -2 points for minor infringements of the rules. Disqualification may result from the failure of rifle clothing to pass the follow-up controls after the competition, or failure of the pistol trigger weight test (too light).

Protests/appeals

In qualification, rifle and pistol events have specified protest/appeal times. Official results are not published until protests and/or appeals, if any, are resolved. At the Olympic Games, preliminary results "subject to protest" may be distributed. Any protest (except shot-score protests, that are not allowed) made in the finals will be resolved by the finals protest jury.
